1. Proctoring a test and tabulating test results
2. Handing out and collecting assessments
3. Helping students with clickers (student response systems) or other classroom technology
4. Helping to coordinate group-based activities among students
5. Taking attendance
6. Helping instructors with activities that comply with assessment requirements

C. Joint Appointments

It is expected that Faculty who are Jointly Appointed with another Unit will normally incur teaching and service workload assignments native to the other Unit, and these activities shall be taken into account by the Department Workload Committee when preparing assessments for the Department Chair. Work for another Unit shall be taken into account by the Department Chair when assigning teaching workloads as described in Section VI.C and when assessing service workloads of Faculty Members.

VII. ASSIGNMENT OF SUMMER COURSES

A. Procedure

Summer I and Summer II Term teaching appointments shall be made by the Chair according to the following guidelines:

1. Curricular Need and Faculty Expertise

The most important criterion for Summer teaching assignments shall be that which benefits the students enrolled in Summer I and Summer II courses. This means that, in assigning courses, the Chair shall consider the faculty members' experience and expertise when making assignments. A course shall not be assigned to a faculty member who does not have a demonstrated ability to teach it. Recent experience in teaching a specific course during previous terms shall be considered except in the instance where no pertinent Faculty has prior teaching experience in a given course.

2. Requests to Teach by Faculty Members

Faculty who desire to teach in a Summer I or Summer II term shall so notify the Chair prior to the deadline. The Chair shall send a timely written reminder to Faculty regarding the deadlines for such appointments , as stated in the Agreement, with a tentative list of the courses to be taught.

3 Priority

When there are more requests by Faculty to teach in Summer I or Summer II terms than there are available courses, and when items 1. and 2. have been considered, priority to teach Summer I and Summer II courses will be given to the Faculty Members who satisfy the following conditions:

- a. They are full time, Tenure-Track, Bargaining-Unit Faculty.
- b. They have not already been assigned a course for one of the two Summer terms (i.e. although it will be possible for a faculty member to teach both Summer I and Summer II terms, priority for any course shall be given to those who do not already have an appointment for either term).

When two or more faculty who have taught a course want to teach it in the summer, the one(s) who taught it in past summers most recently will defer to the one who has gone the longest since the last summer (s)he/she taught it.

[Other conditions of lower importance than (a) and (b) above:]

- c. They have not had a Summer I or Summer II appointment in the previous year.
- d. They have not already been assigned a course for one of the two Summer terms (i.e. although it will be possible for a faculty member to teach both Summer I and Summer II terms, priority for any course shall be given to those who do not already have an appointment for either term).
- e. If there are still more requests than courses after consideration of the previous conditions, priority shall be given to the Faculty with the most recent full-time appointment.

4. Other Considerations

- a. Graduate students shall not be assigned or offered a Summer I or Summer II appointment requested by a Faculty Member.
- b. These guidelines shall apply only to courses offered by the Geosciences Department at WMU proper, and not to courses offered by the University through continuing education (and the like), nor shall they apply to summer field camp courses (and the like) taught for other Universities.

VIII. APPEALS

A Faculty Member may make a formal appeal of any Departmental Committees' recommendations (e.g. recommendation on promotion or tenure), as specified in the Agreement. Appeals must be made within the time frame set forth in the current Agreement. If no appeal is filed, or if the Faculty Member notifies the Chair of the appropriate committee in writing of his/her intent not to appeal, the recommendation shall be forwarded as specified in these Policies and Procedures and in the current Agreement. The following constitutes the appeals process for Departmental Committees' decisions.:

1. The appealing Faculty Member notifies the Chair of the appropriate committee in writing of an intent to appeal.
2. The Faculty Member making the appeal will meet with the appropriate committee to discuss the appeal and may offer additional or clarifying information.
3. In the absence of the Faculty Member, the appropriate committee shall reconsider the original recommendation. It may vote to reaffirm the original recommendation, to modify it, or to formulate a new recommendation, as appropriate under the circumstances.
4. The results of this reconsideration will be reported promptly to the appealing Faculty Member.
5. Only the final recommendation, after consideration of an appeal, shall be forwarded.

Based on evaluations of the Department Chair, a motion may be submitted to the Department Personnel Committee by any one member for recommendation to remove the Department Chair. The motion must be approved by a 2/3 majority of the Board-Appointed Department Faculty. If the Faculty vote to recommend removal of the Department Chair, the recommendation along with supporting documentation shall be forwarded to the Dean of the College.

In order to be appointed to an adjunct rank, the prospective staff member shall meet the following requirements:

- a. He/she must be eligible for and be expected to enter a continuing or at least extended association with the University (beyond a single year appointment).
- b. He/she must possess the academic qualifications, or their equivalents, for the rank to which he/she is appointed.

2. Functions and Attributes of Adjunct Faculty

The following policies shall govern all adjunct appointments:

- a. Appointments shall be made for not more than three years with automatic termination unless renewed.
- b. Appointments may be continued even though the services of the adjunct staff member are not utilized in any given semester or session.
- c. Adjunct appointments are in no way subject to the tenure regulations of the University.
- d. The degree and nature of the participation in Departmental activities and functions shall be determined in each case by the Department.
- e. Persons supervising internships may be appointed to adjunct ranks.

3. Duties of Adjunct Faculty

The Department interprets the above mentioned policy to include three kinds of involvement within the Department:

- a. Teaching.
- b. Research (in the laboratory of and collaboration with a Board-Appointed Faculty Member).
- c. A combination of teaching and research (the latter as specified above).

4. Procedure for Appointment

- a. Applicants for adjunct professorships must present a current curriculum vita which will be reviewed by the Department Faculty.
- b. Adjunct applicants who are primarily involved in research with a Board-Appointed Faculty Member should be proposed and supported by that Faculty Member.
- c. Following the presentation of the curriculum vita, seminar, and support by a Faculty Member, the applicant shall be subject to a vote by the Board-Appointed Department Faculty at a regular Faculty Meeting. A positive recommendation will require a majority vote of those present at the Meeting.

III. THE ADVISORY COUNCIL

A. General

The Geoscience Advisory Council shall operate as a separate organization of alumni, students and interested parties who desire to support and advocate the interests of the Department, and shall develop its own set of guiding policies and practices, but shall in all respects serve at the will of the Department Faculty and Chair. In addition to other specific policies the Advisory Council may develop, the following policies shall apply to its functions and operations. In all cases the policies outlined herein shall supercede any and all policies of the Advisory Council itself.

1. Advisory Council Director

The Director of the Geoscience Advisory Council is the Department Chair (or an assignee), and as such is appointed by the University. The Director will act as the liaison between the Faculty and the Council.

2. Faculty Membership in the Advisory Council

All current and former Geoscience Department Faculty and Research staff are Ex Officio Members of the Council. Ex Officio Members may attend meetings of the Council, participate in discussions, present Faculty issues to the Council, and participate in Council Activities, but have no voting rights in Council meetings.

3. Nomination and Approval of Advisory Council Members

Nominations of new Advisory Council members must be approved by a majority vote of the Faculty. No nominee that fails approval of the Faculty may be elected to the Advisory Council.

4. Removal of Advisory Council Members

A Council member may be removed for cause by a two-thirds majority vote of the Council or by a two-thirds majority vote of the Department Faculty.

5. Operational Guidelines of the Advisory Council

For the adoption of Operational Guidelines, Rules, or Policies of the Advisory Council, an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the Active Members of the Council, whether present or not, shall be required. Any proposed Operational Guidelines, Rules, or Policies of the Advisory Council may be vetoed by a majority vote of the Faculty.

6. Advisory Council Recommendations

No recommendation, advice, or counsel of the Advisory Council shall be binding in any way upon the policies, practices, or activities of the Department, its Faculty, its Staff, or its Students.

IV. DEPARTMENTAL FIELD TRIPS

A. General

Departmental field trips are extra-campus trips of a pedagogical nature, normally but not necessarily associated with a Geosciences course. For policy purposes, a Departmental field trip is any trip supported in majority by Departmental funds, or which employs University or Department owned or rented vehicles, and which is led by a member of the Department Faculty. All pertinent WMU policies regarding vehicle use and student conduct shall apply to field trips just as they do to on-campus activity.

A faculty member who leads a field trip will provide a liability waiver, with advice from university council pertinent to that trip, to be signed and returned to the faculty member prior to departure. The waiver should cover any incidents regarding dangers related to field trip activities, health issues, student conduct, and possible removal from the trip.

1. Health Forms

A faculty member who leads a field trip must have a completed health form for all field trip participants (including teaching assistants, drivers, and instructors), regardless of the duration of the field trip. Health forms should be kept with the first aid kit. Each field trip participant has the option of submitting a health form in a sealed envelope with his/her name on the envelope, but, if a participant chooses to use an envelope, the instructor may ask the participant whether he/she has any potentially life-threatening health conditions that the instructor should know about. Health forms must be returned to the student or shredded at the end of the field trip or at the end of the field trip season.

2. First Aid Kit

A first aid kit must be taken on all field trips, regardless of the duration of the trip. A field trip leader must take the responsibility of learning at least basic first aid skills.

3. Field Trip Manifest and Emergency Contact Information

Before the field trip departs, the field trip leader will prepare a Department field trip manifest that includes emergency contact information for all attendees. This manifest shall be provided to the Department Administrative Assistant. This manifest must list all field trip participants.

4. Vehicle Use

Only drivers authorized by the Department are permitted to drive a University-owned or rented vehicle on a field trip, and drivers must abide by all appropriate traffic laws and regulations. The driver and all passengers must wear seat belts. The number of passengers in the vehicle must not exceed the number of seatbelts available. Students of legal driving age who wish to attend Department field trips using their own private vehicles take full responsibility for their actions and are fully liable and legally responsible for themselves and any passengers, in accord with all appropriate Federal, State and local laws, and must provide proof to the Department of full, active liability and collision insurance coverage for themselves and their vehicle prior to beginning a field trip.

5. Clean-Up

Following a field trip, all equipment must be cleaned and put away. Any broken or missing items must be reported to the Department technician. Tents and coolers must be dry before being put away. Tents must be put away with all pieces intact so that the next person who wants to use the tent can count on a complete tent.

V Voting procedure

1) Rank ordering of candidates for position

All board appointed, tenure-track or tenured Geosciences faculty and the chair may vote for candidates. Absent faculty may vote by proxy. Voting will be by closed, paper ballot. Each faculty may cast one vote for his/her top candidate in each voting round. If no candidate receives a majority vote (more than half of all voting members) in a single round of voting, then the candidate with the least votes will be ranked lowest and a new voting round will be held, not including the candidate receiving the lowest number of votes. This procedure will continue until a candidate receives a majority vote. Other remaining candidates in the final round will be rank-ordered according to the number of votes they receive in that round. The final, rank ordered list will be provided to the Dean.

2) Unsuitable candidates

After producing a rank-ordered candidate list using the procedure described above, any voting member (above) may present one or more of the candidates as “unsuitable” for the position. After discussion, the faculty will vote (by closed paper ballot) to determine whether they believe that the candidate is unsuitable for the position. Any candidate receiving a majority of “unsuitable” votes will be removed from the rank-ordered list and will be provided on a separate “unsuitable” list to be provided to the Dean.
